000000000000000000000000000000000006

Dear Flower Loving Friend and Customer:
After receiving many unsolicited testimonials from parties who was well pleased and satisfied with bulbs etc., purchased from me during the winter and spring especially the special offer, 50 Gladioli for $$ 1.00$. I have decided to make some special offers also on Irises and Tulips for fall delivery that I am certain will please and prove just as popular and satisfactory as my offer on Gladioli, also please take notice that I have listed a few more of the select named varieties in Peonies and Irises, that I know are good and well worth a trial. In Tulips I am only listing one more -the grand fiery red variety Bartigon.

Do not overlook my special offer on Peonies, three fine varieties, one each color, red, white and pink, postpaid, $$ 1.50$.

The Peony is one of the harđiest and easiest of plants to grow they require little attention and will grow in most any kind of soil and can be planted any time from early September until the ground freezes in the fall, and in the early spring until growth is too far advanced. Fall, however, is the best time.

The Darwin Tulip, the monarchs among Tulips are of stately growth with long sturdy stems on which are born the most beautiful globular flowers of a heavy texture. They blocm in May, often, though not always, lasting until Memorial Day, when flowers are most wanted, but always scarce and expensive. Plant in the fall about same time as Peonies, but cannot be planted in spring.

The beauty of the Iris outrivals that of the Orchids in their delicacy of structure and wide range of colorings such as the richest yellows, intense parples, delicate blues, softest mauves, beautiful Claret reds, also whites, primrose and bronze of every shade. They thrive in almost any soil or location except they cannot endure standing water. Best results are obtained by pianting in July, August or September, but they can also be planted very successfully in spring. You can add to your Iris collection both in fall and spring with good results.

On account of the shortage of some varieties it is very important to order early. My stock of some of the choicest varieties is limited and it is often impossible to secure them late in season.

In listing these extra offerings for the fall of 1924 I take great pleasure in thanking my many friends for their generous patronage in the past, and by giving good stock and value. I hope to merit a continuance of your patronage.

P. A. LAESERSun Prairie, Wisconsin.
